Creativity is social, collaboration is essential.

- Training Program for Young Migrant Women, which with be tailored with the gender-sensitivity approach aims at presenting in a practical way (and also valuing and drawing from their own knowledge) topics like entrepreneurship, self-leadership and intersectionality.
- Guidebook. Young Migrant Women Entrepreneurship through the Lenses of Self-Leadership. Comprehending Intersectionality challenges and Identifying Opportunities

Gender-sensitive approaches take gender into account as a significant variable and also values equally the experiences and viewpoints of men and women alike, otherwise the statement of the problem will be incomplete which will lead to the wrong conclusions.

Socio-economic integration of young migrant women through the enhancement of their entrepreneurship skills through gender-sensitive training programs and at the same time creating sustainable local development.

Young women are generally underrepresented in the labor market, however when they hold a migrant status the hardships increase as they face different challenges and in most cases intersectional discrimination.

The innovative approach of this project relies on the methodology "Scenario-based learning". Through the creation of different scenarios seen through gender-sensitive lenses, learners will put into practice these competencies and will be able to tackle complex problems that will face while starting their own businesses.
